Must I Reside in New Jersey for My Child to be Eligible?

No, but you must be covered by a New Jersey fully insured health plan and your adult child must be a resident of the state or a full-time student at an accredited school in any state or country.

When Can My Child Enroll or Re-Enroll Under the Terms of NJ's Adult Dependent Law?

Eligible adult children who reach the limiting age under their parent's coverage may make an enrollment request at any time. Through this continuous open enrollment, an eligible young adult may enroll at any time with proof of prior creditable coverage. The coverage does not have to be from immediately prior to the enrollment.

What is the Cost of Dependent Coverage for Adult Children and How do I Pay for Coverage?

The cost is a percentage of the single premium that the dependent's parent is enrolled in. Please contact Human Resources for more information.

Each adult dependent will be billed directly at their home. Employers do not make any contributions to adult dependent coverage and it cannot be billed as a payroll deduction to the employee.

How Do I Request Enrollment for My Child?

If you are interested in enrollment please complete the New Jersey Chapter 375 Coverage for Dependents to Age 31 form and submit the enrollment form to Human Resources.

How Does This Law Impact COBRA?

If your child ages-out of your health plan, they have the option of electing COBRA for 36 months OR electing coverage under the NJ Dependent Coverage law. You will need to weigh the pros and cons of each option before enrolling. While COBRA coverage will last for up to 36 months, it is important to note that coverage under NJ Chapter 375 is contingent upon you as the employee remaining covered and on your child maintaining their qualifications under the criteria above. Losing coverage under NJ's law will not create a new COBRA qualifying event.

Can My Child Continue Coverage on the Dental Plan?

The Chapter 375 coverage is not available for dental, however, your dependent is eligible for coverage under COBRA. For more information contact Human Resources.
